The Jail on Bedford Bridge does not exist to-day. This picture is from old drawings. Bunyan was in this prison in 1675 for "about half a year," a sufferer for conscience sake—for the third time. During this imprisonment he wrote the first part of the Pilgrim's Progress (published in 1678) and the Holy War. Bunyan's long imprisonment was in the county jail (then at the Junction of High Street and Silver Street).
